

Raid Northern Trail will start in Washington on two different dates; a pre-raid trip around beautiful Washington State starts on Saturday July 20, and the main departure is on July 26, 2002. The pre-Raid trip is an option especially for those foreign visitors who are curious about our volcano and earthquake-ridden locale, although everyone is welcome for this option. The main Raid starts at a Departure Party to be held Friday the 26th at the Kaupat Ranch near the mountain village of Cle Elum, 78 miles east of Seattle.

All Citroën models are invited to participate in the Raid caravan. The schedule will move our group comfortably through parks and campgrounds eastward to take part in the 12th International Citroën Car Club Rally in Amherst, MA, August 9-11, 2002.

The route is direct, mainly running parallel to I-90 on smaller roads to avoid the monotony of driving the interstate. For those who prefer the interstate route, that is certainly an easy option. We will pass through Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, South Dakota, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, and into Springfield, Massachusetts where we will meet up with Raid ICCCR Mad Dash (originating in California) and convoy together for the final 25 miles of the journey to the University of Massachusetts, in grand Citroën camaraderie.

The twelve day cross-country trip will average about 290 miles (465 km) per day. Of course some days will be more and others less. In true Citroën Raid fashion, the main destination each day is a park or campground where there are reservations at group sites. This helps to keep costs at a minimum, and provides a chance for lots of evening socializing. Citroën Raids are well known to place high priority on camaraderie.

The cost of the Raid is approx. $850 per car based on two occupants, as follows:

- Entry fee (includes Road Book, departure party and camping for 12 nights)
\*Cost basis is $240 for Tent Campers; $295 for Trailers and Motorhomes.*
- Meals for two persons, assuming they are self-prepared: - $30 per day, for 11 days
- Fuel: based on $2 per gallon @25mpg and 3,250 miles (5,200 km) distance - $260
Please understand that these are just estimated figures; your costs may vary.

Participants are responsible for their own personal expenses (i.e. food, fuel, automotive expenses, etc.) and are expected to have legal documents in order, such as driver's license, vehicle registration and insurance coverage. Each registered car will receive a detailed road book showing maps for the day, scenic attractions and points of interest, and driving instructions for each campground. Those staying in motels are responsible to make your own reservations in advance. Motor homes and trailers will be responsible for additional charges in the campgrounds.

Adjustments to the entry fee will be made depending on each individual situation; the raid planners will be fair in either lowering or raising the entry fee depending on your plans for nightly shelter.

We encourage everyone to be certain that their vehicle is in top running condition and that they carry appropriate spare parts for the year and model car they will be driving, as Citroën repair shops are few-and-far between! There will be technical assistance available during the trip, and we will endeavor to assist everyone who has a mechanical problem, but we cannot be responsible for vehicles that are not properly prepared for such an adventure, nor will Raid Northern Trail be held up due to vehicles experiencing extreme difficulties. v06/2001
